BRITISH FLIER OVER ATLANTIC

Surprise Start In Small Plane Made By Aviator

ST. JOHNS, NEWFOUNDLAND, Oct. 17—(U.P.)—Lieut. Comdr. H. C. MacDonald of London was out over the Atlantic tonight on a projected non-stop flight to England in an 85 h. p. Gipsy Moth airplane. He left Harbor Grace at 11:45 a. m.

Commander MacDonald, who has been waiting here for three weeks for favorable weather for his proposed flight, caused some doubt, as to his destination by his sudden departure but as the hours passed and the tiny plane which had been loaded to capacity did not return, it apparently was certain that he was attempting the long water flight. Earlier there had been some speculation as to whether today's

Richmond Opposes Albany Span Plans

With both support and opposition well represented Maj. E. H. Hopes, army district engineer, conducted a hearing on the proposed T. A. Tomasini bridge from Albany to Marin, in San Francisco yesterday. Major Hopes, who conducted the hearing will submit his findings to the War Department which will render a final decision in the near future.

Led by Richmond officials and chamber of commerce representatives, the opposition held that the proposed span would be a menace to navigation and retard harbor development.

Tomasini asked for a permit to construct a bridge from Fleming Point in Alameda county to Bluff Point, Marin county. Those who supported Tomasini in his request, included the city council and chamber of commerce of Albany, and Marin county supervisors. The Sausalito chamber of commerce, Sonoma Valley United organization, Crescent City and Mill Valley chambers of commerce and the Coos Bay Lumber company submitted letters supporting the span permit plea.

In addition to the Richmond officials and chamber of commerce, who voiced strong opposition to the bridge, the following organizations presented protests: The California Transport company, Santa Fe railroad company, the Pacific American Steamship association, Richmond Industrial commission, Parr Terminal corporation and Oscar H. Klatt, president

'Make Sister Write' Chamber Requested

An unusual request for information was received yesterday by Mrs. Helen Kingsbury, secretary of the Richmond chamber of commerce. Mrs. Kingsbury received a letter from an eastern woman requesting her to find out why the woman's sister, a resident of Richmond, was not answering her letters.

"Slightly unusual, yes," said Mrs. Kingsbury, "but it's all in a day's work here."

Mrs. Kingsbury, in addition to requests for information on Richmond's harbor, industrial sites, business and residential facilities, receives a number of varied inquiries which include housewives seeking help and "pauzes" asking for contributions.

Bystander Victim Of Wife's Bad Aim

OAKLAND, Oct. 17.—Lawrence L. Taylor, 28, a real estate man, was removed to the Emergency hospital with a bullet in his left ankle today. He identified Mrs. Hilda Mayhew, 19, as the woman who shot him.

Taylor told police that he was alighting from his car when he saw a man, later identified as Charles Mayhew, run toward him. He said he saw Mrs. Mayhew draw a gun and fire three shots at her fleeing husband. The first two missed, but the third hit Taylor. Mrs. Mayhew declared that she and her husband had been quarreling when the shooting occurred. Mayhew has not been found.

Dollar Day Proves Big Success Here

While Richmond housewives were discussing the large array of bargains offered in Richmond stores yesterday during Dollar Day, tired clerks were rubbing aching feet and in other ways trying to find relief from one of the busiest days experienced in Richmond stores.

According to reports from local merchants, the sale was one of the most successful that has ever been held here. Merchants put forth a special effort to offer the public an exceptional list of bargains and were well pleased by the record through which took advantage of the special features advertised in the RECORD-HERALD for the day.

Zeppelin Line Over Atlantic To Be Started

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—(U.P.)—A regular dirigible service between Europe and the United States within four years, with sailings from both sides of the Atlantic every four or five days, was visualized today by Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the Graf Zeppelin.

At least four giant airships will be necessary before the service can be inaugurated, Dr. Eckener explained. The ships will be larger and more powerful than the Graf Zeppelin. It will also be necessary to build two great hangars, one in the United States and one in Europe.

Dr. Eckener favors the vicinity of Washington or Baltimore for the erection of the American terminal in preference to Lakehurst, due to unfavorable cross winds which are frequent over New Jersey. The European terminal, he said, probably will be located in the Rhine valley near Basle, as Friedrichshafen (from where the Graf Zeppelin started its trans-Atlantic flight) is too high.

DEMOCRAT, GOP RALLIES ON FRIDAY

Politically speaking—you have your choice. The Republicans will hold a Hoover-Curtis rally in the Roosevelt auditorium tomorrow night and at the same time the Democrats will hold a Smith-Robinson meeting at the Lincoln auditorium.

George B. Fredenburg yesterday announced the selection of Carlson as chairman of the meeting at which Congressman Arthur M. Free of San Jose will be the speaker. Carlson is a personal friend of Free.

L. J. Thomas, chairman of the Democratic program committee has announced Daniel Malloy, former attorney general of Montana as the speaker of the Democratic session. Another feature of the Bourbon session will be the reception of the Al Smith Chicago speech over radio between 6 and 7 p. m. In addition to Malloy there will be other interesting speakers at the Democratic rally, Thomas announced.

Women have been especially urged to attend the Republican session and Mrs. S. S. Ripley of Richmond will be one of the speakers.

One Killed, Another Hurt In Gang War

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—(U.P.)—Ross J. Murphy was shot and killed and Mike Quinlan was wounded probably fatally, here tonight in a machine-gun battle which, police described as a reopening of the south side beer war. Both men were standing near an automobile in front of a drink parlor when another car passed and opened fire, using the modern method of gang warfare—machine-gun fire.

Bethel Island Still Results In U.S. Charges

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 17.—(U.P.)—Indictments have been returned by the Federal grand jury here against three wealthy men for maintaining an illicit liquor plant on Bethel island of the San Joaquin river. United States Attorney George B. Hatfield announced here tonight.

A formal charge of conspiracy to violate the internal revenue act by operating a still has been filed against Marius Hotchkiss, son of the owner of Bethel island in Contra Costa county, Byron A. Bearce, former vice president of the Tidewater Southern railway of San Mateo, and Lawrence Edwards, Stockton attorney.

Charges against the three men resulted from evidence gathered at a raid conducted on April 17 by Prohibition Admistrators E. R. Bohner and a group of federal prohibition officers who charged that the still was going full blast at the time.

The still, according to federal operatives was purchased from George A. Lucot, sheriff of Alameda county at a public auction on Dec. 31, 1927. Other charges which link the three men to the huge liquor manufacturing plant, according to the federal charges include the purchase of equipment and material for the manufacture of liquor which was found on the island during the 1927 raid.

All three men are expected to surrender on Friday morning before a U. S. commissioner. The promise of their surrender was made by their attorney.

$55,000 Richmond Land Settlement

MARTINEZ, Oct. 17.—Compromise today terminated a litigation involving property in the city of Richmond, valued at $55,000 and resulted in an agreement that title to one half would be vested in Thomas J. Smith and title to the remainder in Smith's three children.

The compromise was affected in a suit brought against the American Trust company to establish the property located at Twenty-third street and Macdonald avenue, as community property. Smith's wife died several years ago and her will established the property as a trust with the bank as trustee, and according to Smith an income of $125 monthly. The bank now has a branch office there.

Smith contended that although the property had stood in his wife's name, it was acquired through joint effort and therefore it was community property. They had been married in 1907 and Smith charged that a later deed he made to his wife was for the purposes of convenience only. Turing and T. H. DeLap represented the bank.

Rollins who lived in the same house with the mother and daughter, is accused of having mistreated the girl. The arrest was made by Capt. L. E. Jones and Sgt. Harry Donnelly.

The girl is being held in the county detention home.

THURSDAY MORNING, OCT. 18, 1928.

A STATESMAN'S VIEW OF IT

The absurdity, under the present economic structure, of the "competitive" tariff espoused by Governor Smith and the Democratic Party, is exposed by Congressman Theodore E. Burton, writing in the current issue of The Yale Review.

The United States, Mr. Burton shows, occupies no exceptional position in the maintenance of the high, protective tariffs enacted by a Republican administration. Between the signing of the Armistice in 1918 and the passage of the Fordney-McCumber Tariff Act in 1922, thirty-three nations of the world imposed new tariffs or increased their old ones. Since that time nineteen more have been added to the list, bringing the total to fifty-two and including all first class powers.

Thus, it is clear that American products and American manufacturers compete in the world markets against high and adverse tariffs. That we are able to compete at all, with a standard of living so far above that of other nations, is due to mass production, and mass production in turn was developed under a high, protective tariff in the United States. For Mr. Smith or the Democratic Party now to talk of a "competitive" tariff based on the actual difference in the cost of production at home and abroad means only that the United States must play Santa Claus to the commercial demands of fifty-two nations.

In other respects Mr. Burton's paper is similarly convincing brief for the election of Herbert Hoover and a continuance of the Republican administration.

A man who says he sank the British submarine L-55 during the war is now driving a taxi in Paris. Wonder how much more damage he has done with his taxi?

No matter how expert they get with these talking movies we are willing to gamble a goodly pile that they will never be able to make a 1000 foot film of President Coolidge

Some of those southern states this year must feel like the wall flower who having been neglected for a long time suddenly finds herself surrounded by anxious admirers.

Henry Ford says that some of these days automobile tires may be made from the roadside weeds, but it's our opinion they would never do for the hayfever patients.

Remember the good old days when lettuce leaves and carrots were fed to the rabbits only?

A heavy vote is expected in the election in Nicaragua on November 1, but the U. S. Marines will see to it that each Nicaraguan votes only once.

Some day some of these Wall Street experts may develop the perfect stock—one that always goes up and never comes down.

A lot of fellows seem only to live from one week-end to the other.

The old-time political speaker liked to boast that he gave his hearer solid facts. Now a big number of them are trying to dispense liquid facts.

Our idea of a nervous republican is one who is worrying about Vermont and Pennsylvania.

A woman down East was lured away from home by a radio voice. Evidently she thought it was the call of the wild.

Who remembers the good old days when about the only thing you bought in cans was cove oysters?

What Shall I Wear?

By JUDIE

This coat is of wine color broad-cloth, featuring a tunic and one-sided cape fashioned from the same piece of fabric. Black fox makes the collar and cuffs.

Dear Judie:
I am a woman in my fifties and have difficulty in finding dignified clothes, possibly because I am very slender. Everything I try on appears more or less inappropriate for a woman of my years, my iron grey hair, and glasses. While I object to the flapper type of clothes, I of course, want to be smart. My present problem is a coat—Mrs. C. H. P. The sketch herewith seems to have been designed especially for

BEAUTY

Thin hands and large knuckles do not make for beauty. No matter how well-manicured the nails, or how smooth and white the skin, such hands can never be anything but unattractive.

The only way to make large knuckles less conspicuous is to fill out the contours of the hands. Massage with a skin food (coconut water is good), will help but it will not add flesh if you are under-weight. No external application or treatment as far as I know, will ever add one ounce of weight. So if your hands are scrawny, make sure you do not need to gain a few pounds before trying anything else.

However, such massage will soften and whiten the hands and keep the knuckles from getting red and scaly. Soaking the hands in warm olive oil is beneficial as is the practice of leaving, on the hands encased in old gloves over night.

Elbows need never be rough and reddened if you use the same treatment for them as for the hands. You, it has dignity, but it certainly does not lack in style feature. Since you are slender and (I hope) tall the tunic and cape are possible. Note the one-sided treatment, and the well-balanced placement of fur.

Yours for Style,
JUDIE

AND THE WORST IS YET TO COME

Dear Miss Lane

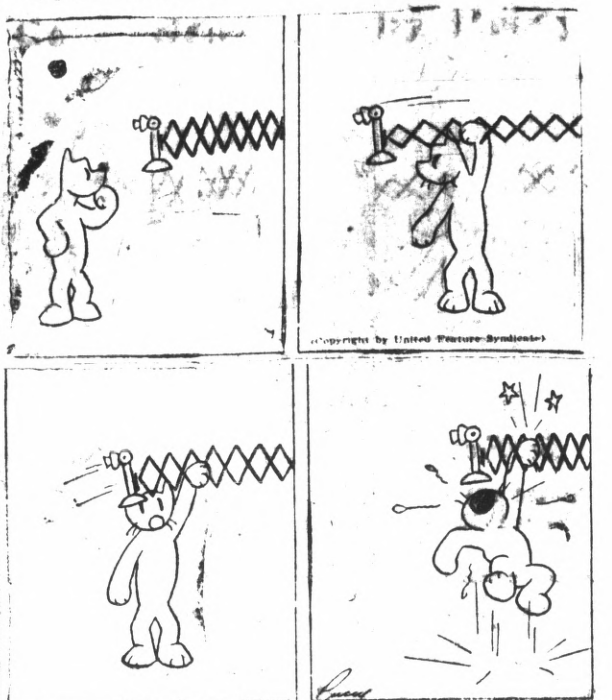

Since my illness (I was laid up for nearly two months) my hair has been brittle and is falling out badly. What can I do?—M.

Such a condition of the hair is natural after a prolonged illness and as you regain your health, you will find that it will disappear. In the meantime brush your hair frequently and massage the scalp with hot olive oil before shampooing.

THE 7TH WONDER OF MOTION PICTURES

To be transported back to the ways of Galilee and the streets of Judea at a time when man gave to the world a great opportunity—To follow the path of that man through an amazing series of engrossing epochal events—Such his the great central theme of Cecil B. DeMille's motion picture "The King of Kings" which reverently pictures the wondrous drama from the date when the world knew him as an itinerant preacher and the afflicted and succor. This great picture will be on view at the California theatre for the last time today.

Filming began in June, 1926. Cecil B. DeMille began this great work in June, 1926. For ten months the fields of research, authorial creation, production and technique were kept busy. His final determination to make the picture was announced only after he had discussed the subject with leaders of public sentiment, scholars and savants, and theatre advisers.

Representatives of the studio went to the Holy Land to study at first hand architecture and costumes and topography. Fifty acres of land were purchased adjacent to the Cecil B. DeMille studio at Culver City. Here were reproduced, to exact measurement, the scenes or locales of the Temple—the Via Dolorosa—the Hill of Calvary, and other scenes familiar to all who have traveled in Palestine.

Great Co-operative Effort
As the work progressed it developed into the greatest co-operative effort (and the united action) of the motion picture industry has yet achieved. The technical and architectural resources of every great California studio was placed at the service of the production, and eminent actors from many companies vied with one another for the leading parts. Will H. Hays, president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, made a special trip to California to correlate the many studio activities and to bring about, in behalf of the production, favorable action by the organized social, religious and educational institutions of the country.

There are more than fifty featured actors, including eighteen stars, in the production, of which the following is a partial list: H. B. Warner, Jacqueline Logan, Dorothy Cumming, Kenneth Thomson, Ernest Torrence, Julia Faye, Rudolph Schildkraut, Joseph Norman, Joseph Schildkraut, Victor Varconi, Robert Edison, M. Coleman, Montagu Love, George Sidney, Raymond Daltrey, William Boyd, Sam De Israel, May Robson, Jeta Goudal, Bryant Washburn, Theodore Kosloff, Josef Swickard.

Richmond citizens at the session yesterday included: T. M. Carlson, city attorney; Mayor Mattie A. Chandler, J. A. McVittie, city manager; P. M. Sanford, president of the chamber of commerce; Councilman W. W. Scott, Jack Galvin, H. W. Wernse of the Richmond commission and Fred Parr of the Parr Terminal corporation.

In presenting the opposition for the city of Richmond Carlson read the resolution recently adopted by the city council which set forth that granting of the permit would bottle up the Richmond harbor and nullify some $500,000 in harbor improvements recently made at the waterfront by the city with the aid of the Federal government. He also gave a short review of existing conditions and harm that would come from the construction of a bridge, such as planned by Tomasini.

Sanford presented a resolution adopted by the chamber of commerce directors which was along the lines of the resolution submitted by Carlson for the council. The stamship a section which represented the various shipping concerns using the bay waters in its protest that it plans for the bridge were revised to permit the passing of the largest steamers in use, that its opposition would be withdrawn.

School nurse says

all girls should know this

TALKING to a roomful of high school girls on personal hygiene, an experienced district nurse said: "One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary there's no harm in taking a laxative, since it works mechanically, and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when a laxative should be taken. Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or gas pains or griping."

Nujol is different from any other substance. It contains no drugs or medicine. It can be taken safely no matter how you are feeling because it is so pure and harmless. It works so easily. Every woman should keep a bottle on hand. Every druggist has this remarkable substance. Get the genuine.

"THE SINGING FOOL," starring Al Jolson, is a Warner Bros. pictureization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Al Stone, singing waiter at Blackie Joe's New York night club, wins fame as a composer of popular songs. He marries Molly Winston, a ballad singer, and makes her famous, too. When their baby, Junior, is about two years old, Molly elopes with John Perry, Al's best friend, taking the child. A week later Al learns she is at a New York hotel, ready to sail for France that afternoon. He calls her on the phone, and begs for the chance to say good-bye to Junior. Molly consents, so Junior is taken to the park entrance. It is a tragic farewell, for Al adores his boy. Junior says, "Do you feel bad, daddy?"

CHAPTER XX

"I'm all right, Junior," said Al. "No, I don't feel bad. I'm just awfully happy to see you. I'll tell you something—you're going far away to another place on a great big boat. Take care of mother and don't let anything happen to her. Be good to her. And remember—you'll see daddy again; we must both wait for that time."

In the distance the nurse-maid was consulting the chauffeur as to the time. He looked at his watch and decided they should be getting back to the hotel. Al looked up to see the severe-faced nurse standing before him.

Was this the last time he would see his son?

"I'm sorry," she said firmly, "but it's time for the young gentleman to return to his mother."

Junior turned on her quickly. "But I don't want to go."

The nurse tried to smile, but Junior continued with baby sterness. "If you take me away so soon I won't like you."

Al rose, gathering Junior in his arms. "Sh-h—Junior. It isn't nurse's fault that you have to go. You must be good boy, every way, every day." Then Al turned to the nurse. "Will you please go on ahead?"

The nurse preceded them, while Al made that one hundred-foot walk to the car last as long as possible. Would this really be the last time he ever saw Junior? Perhaps not, but it was quite possible that Junior would be a strapping youngster the next time they came together. If so his adorable baby sayings and his sense of baby gaiety would be gone. His sweet, confiding ways would be replaced by a boyish self-sufficiency. He might even forget his father entirely.

These thoughts traveled like burning darts through Al's mind. Was it humanly possible for him to give up this little bundle of humanity? Could he live afterward? And then came the thought—take Junior by force, jump into a taxi and drive off with him. For a moment this idea persisted with startling intensity. It would be so easy, and he would be justified in doing it!

But, no, Al just couldn't do it—he wasn't made that way. He was kind, generous, chivalrous. He loved Molly in spite of what she had done to him and he knew she would have hurt him. Al's nature would not let him pay her back in kind. Let Junior go with her and perhaps she would relent and return with the child within a few months. He knew she would take good care of his son.

Al kept his facial muscles firm and controlled until the instant of saying good-bye and putting Junior into the car. Then he had to turn his face away again as he pressed Junior to him. He said haltingly: "Don't forget, Junior, your mother loves you—you're going to be aw-

Even the strange nurse was touched by this father's tragic face. Then Al, afraid of breaking openly, quickly passed Junior to her in the car. The motor purred, the door closed, the Rolls-Royce started to move. Al saw Junior's face, dim in the limousine's interior, gazing at him in wide-eyed, troubled wonder.

Al was smiling. It was a desperate effort, but Junior must remember him that way. As the car gained momentum the baby face appeared at the rear window; Junior was waving a frantic farewell. Al started to walk after the car—faster, faster. Now he broke into a run. His heart was breaking, but still he smiled and answered Junior's ways. "He stumbled and almost fell, then caught himself up and ran the faster. But the little face at the window became blurred by the increasing distance, and suddenly the car itself disappeared down the crowded Avenue."

When Al definitely lost sight of the car he stopped in his tracks. People on all sides were staring at him, conscious that he was passing through a terrible ordeal of some

POWER HEADS BALK PROBE OF SENATE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17. (U.P.)—Investigation of power industry propaganda by the Federal Trade Commission met a major snag today when two officials of the Electric Bond and Share company, New York, defied the commission's power to make them answer questions.

After a warm colloquy between the witnesses and Commissioner Edgar A. McCulloch, presiding in the inquiry, they were told that unless the required evidence was produced by next Tuesday at 10 a. m., the commission would institute legal proceedings to require compliance.

Follow Advice
Witnesses who refused to answer questions or produce documents demanded by the commission were A. E. Smith, controller and assistant secretary, and Ralph B. Fagin, vice president of the Electric Bond and Share company.

Both men acted on the advice of John F. MacLane, counsel, who prior to their appearance on the stand, raised formal objections to the commission's issuance of subpoenas in the investigation and questioned the validity of the commission's authority.

As a result of the defiance of the commission's powers, a new case of the Federal Trade Commission Act that may be taken to the U. S. Supreme Court was predicted by legal experts. Commission attorneys believe they have a strong case, inasmuch as the witnesses have refused to answer specific questions in response to a subpoena.

Refuse Answers
Questions which caused the controversy dealt with expenditures by the electric bond and share company to "influence public opinion on municipal ownership" or to control senatorial or presidential elections. After some preliminary sparring each witness, in turn, finally refused point blank to produce ledger sheets showing the operating expenses of the company.

Information requested by the commission examiners, Commissioner McCulloch said, is fully within the province of the commission and also of the Walsh senate resolutions under which the present inquiry is being conducted.

and met his father face to face for the first time since he was tried in Los Angeles last February.

No Emotion Shown
The condemned youth gave no outward sign of undue emotion as he shook hands with his father and sat down beside him.

For more than an hour they talked in low tones, the guard withdrawing to the end of the room out of earshot.

Then, with a final clasp and embrace, the father strode from the room. As he passed out, the main prison gate his eyes were red with weeping and he brushed his hand from time to time.

But he walked erect as a soldier on down the road to catch a bus for San Rafael.

Asks Solitude
Two reporters overtook him. "I wish you would go away and leave me," he said.

An auto containing cameramen drove alongside. The photographer leaped from the car, and tried to get a focus. Hickman held a small photograph box in front of him to shield his face from view.

In the box were a prayer book and a few trinkets. Edward had given him.

A moment later a bus passed and Hickman climbed aboard to start the trip back home to El Paso, Tex.

Self Possessed
Prison guards said the son was entirely self-possessed throughout the meeting with his father and never once showed signs of breaking down.

Although the march from the condemned row to the death cell was scheduled after 5 p. m., that hour passed without any move being made to make the change.

It was announced at the warden's office that prison officials were waiting for another relative to see him before he went to the death cell, where no visitors are allowed.

May See Mother
This statement strengthened reports that Mrs. Eva Hickman, mother of Edward, might see him. Such reports were current about the prison throughout the day, although it had been announced in Kansas City that she would not come west.

Before the arrival of his father, Hickman met his two attorneys, Jerome Walsh and Richard Cartillon of Los Angeles, for the last time.

Final Move
The two attorneys had come ask Warden James Holohan to seek the appointment of a sanity commission to examine Edward before Friday.

This was the last possible legal move left to them after Gov. C. C. Young in Sacramento refused to commute the sentence to life imprisonment or interfere with the hanging in any way.

A formal request to the warden for the sanity hearing was not made, however.

up in which he and Hickman participated.

Later Hickman autographed several photographs of himself, and designated the persons to whom they were sent.

One of these pictures will go to his mother, Mrs. Eva Hickman, in Kansas City. Another will be given to the warden.

Prepares for Death
Then Hickman began gathering his few personal effects together to be turned over to Cartillon, who will send them to his relatives.

Hickman talked much with his cell mate, Russell St. Clair Betzel, while getting ready to leave condemned row, and congratulated him on the good news the day had brought him.

Betzel, under sentence to be hanged in November for the murder of his common law wife, Barbara Manger, in Los Angeles, received an automatic stay of execution today through an appeal to the California State Supreme court for a new trial.

BRITISH FLIER ON ATLANTIC FLIGHT

Commander McDonald is one of the newest and most daring British fliers. He recently toured France, Italy, Egypt, Arabia, Mesopotamia and Syria after only eight hours of solo flying. His little plane has a wing span of 26 feet and weighs only 880 pounds. It has no facilities for landing on water.

The meteorological department of the air ministry tonight reported strong winds from the northwest for McDonald's flight. The wind velocity was 45 miles an hour in mid-Atlantic. It was announced. Come rain was reported which might greatly increase the hazards of the flight.

Retired Officer
Commander McDonald's Moth plane, which has neither wireless or waterfloats, has a flying radius of about 3500 miles. McDonald is a retired officer of the Royal navy and only recently learned to fly. He is of modest disposition and of such a retiring nature that little publicity was given his really remarkable flight from London to the Near East and return in the spring of 1928. The same was true of preparations for his flight from Newfoundland.

His arrival here three weeks ago was given but scant attention, despite the fact that he planned to fly the ocean in the small, single seater DeHavilland plane.

This morning the plane was loaded to capacity and McDonald suddenly decided the time was ripe for his departure.

NEWS OF START COMPLETE SURPRISE
LONDON, Oct. 17.—(U.P.)—The start of Comdr. B. C. McDonald's projected flight from Harbor Grace to England, was entirely unexpected here. Not even his wife had been informed of the take-off on what was believed to be an attempt to cross the Atlantic ocean until news dispatches were received.

"I don't think he would want me to say anything until he has accomplished something," Mrs. McDonald said in a shaking voice when informed of the flight. She added that she was "terribly worried" and had not known the flight had started.

Macdonald's home is in Kensington and the couple have one child. The flier is 33 years old.

AL SMITH MAY USE OIL CASE RULING

By PAUL R. MALLON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

ABOARD THE SMITH SPECIAL TRAIN, NEARING CHICAGO Oct. 17.—(U.P.)—Two latest developments in the never ending oil scandals probably will be taken up as a campaign issue by Gov. Alfred E. Smith in his speech at Chicago Friday night.

All day long, at railroad stops enroute across Missouri and Illinois to Chicago, telegrams were put aboard his special train, bringing him details of the decision of Attorney General Sargent holding invalid the Salt Creek royalty oil lease of Harry Sinclair, the lessee of Teapot Dome.

Smith Quiet
Pending a complete study of the decision and subsequent activities about it, the democratic presidential nominee would say nothing. His friends, however, say the democratic national committee had decided making use of the situation before the election.

A New York newspaper supporting Smith is said to have been in readiness for publication of a series of stories about the fact that the republican national committee chairman, Hubert Work, as secretary of interior, had renewed the optional lease to Sinclair after expiration of the original lease granted by Sinclair's friend, Albert B. Fall.

Candidate Silent
Smith's friends contend that news of their intentions reached republican headquarters and insinuate that the decision may have been a result.

When asked about the decision in his conference with newspapermen, Smith said:

"I do not know anything about the oil case. I did not read it in the paper." Glancing at a paper handed to him, he added: "Yes, there is a little piece right here. Oh, yes, there is a picture of Dr. Work." He declined to say anything further on the subject.

Leak Hinted
The governor and some of his friends have been interested in noticing how some of his campaign plans, which he has been trying to keep secret, have apparently fallen into the hands of republicans. Smith remarked that his republican opponent, Herbert Hoover, probably had been misinformed in advance as to the substance of his speech delivered at Louisville, Ky., on the tariff issue Saturday night.

Hoover, in his Monday speech in Boston, said the American people would never permit the tariff commission to usurp the rate making power of congress, a statement which some considered an answer to Smith's Saturday night speech, although Hoover's speech was given to the press before the Smith speech. Referring to the matter Smith charged he had been misrepresented by Hoover, if his opponent had intended the statement as an answer to the Louisville speech.

Such is only part of the story of increased values that is being written in the development now taking place on the Richmond waterfront

There is nothing physically spectacular about the dredging and filling operation which you see in progress along the Richmond water front.

And yet literally and figuratively these operations are maturing a crop of dollars for Richmond property owners, Richmond business men and Richmond residents.

Industrial property that is today worth from $500 to $600 per acre will tomorrow, upon the completion of the harbor improvements, leap in value to $5000 and $6000 per acre.

Richmond's harbor is one of Richmond's greatest assets—remember this—the busy dredgers are literally coining the new prosperity that the citizens of Richmond are to enjoy in the immediate future.

CARDS TO MEET IDAHO ELEVEN TOMORROW

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Oct. 17.—For the first time in many years, a Stanford football team will play in San Francisco when "Pop" Warner's Cardinals tangle with the Vandals from the University of Idaho at Keen Stadium tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Like Stanford, Idaho has been getting started but Coach Warner has been showing improvement and is capable of giving the redshirts as much action as they wish. Last year the northerners boasted of being the best team in the Pacific Northwest conference and are just getting this season. Bill Kershner, the 212 pound fullback is expected to put the powerful Stanford team to a severe test as the big fellow is about as hard to stop as a steam roller.

The Cards are hopeful that four of their regulars—Frank Wilton, halfback, "Spud" Harder, end, Walt Henck, center and Corwin Artman, tackle—who have been out because of injuries and sickness, will be able to start against Idaho. Harder and Henck will probably be ready but Wilton's bad knee has not been improving as rapidly as it might and Artman's bad cold is hanging on.

Coach Warner was well pleased on the whole, with his team's work in defeating U. C. L. A. 45 to 7 last Saturday. The playing of Bill Simpkins at fullback, Lud Frentrup and "Spud" Lewis at halves, and Chuck Smalling at quarter brought joy to his heart. In the line, "Muck" Muller at end and that great pair of guards Post and Robesky did some fine work.

The Vandal contest will be the third conference game for Stanford, the Cardinals having already disposed of Oregon and U. C. L. A. Either U. S. C. or California will be eliminated from the undefeated class Saturday and the reds are expected to fight it out with the winner for the conference championship if they can.

DARTMOUTH, ARMY, PENN FACE STIFF GRID TESTS

(United Press Staff Correspondent) NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—The Army, Dartmouth and Pennsylvania—three of the East's most promising eleven—face hard tests on the gridiron this week.

Dartmouth and Pennsylvania have run rough shod over their opponents in their early season games, but the Army was forced to the limit to defeat S. M. U. in an intercollegiate game at West Point two weeks ago, 14 to 13.

Army-Harvard Start Again

After a lapse of 18 years, the Army and Harvard will renew football relations at Cambridge Saturday, with its big veteran team, is favored to win but Harvard's cause is by no means futile. Arnold Horween, ever patient with the shortcomings of the Harvard players, has assembled the best looking crimson eleven in years. Captain Arthur French, Dave Gurnea, Wally Harper, and Tommy Gilligan round out a capable, if not dangerous backfield.

Harvard's linemen have been called "big but dumb" and criticized for their lack of football brains. If such is the case Army's football-wise forwards are apt to explode the first bombshell under Horween's hopes.

Harvard Victor Over Army

Harvard has never lost a football game to Army. That fact is accounted for by the more pertinent fact that Army has not played Harvard since 1910. Most every one else has been trampling the crimson on the gridiron the past few years.

A comparison of the records of the two teams follows:

Army 53; Boston U. 9.
Army 14; S. M. U. 13.
Army 14; Providence 0.
Total—83—13.

Harvard 30; Springfield 0.

Harvard 20; North Carolina 0.

Total—50—0.

A good Columbia team will go north to Hanover, N. H., to give Dartmouth's high powered scoring machine its first severe test. Jess Hawley apparently has developed another dazzling offensive team, but neglected his defense in the bargain.

Dartmouth Good

Dartmouth, featuring Al Marsters and Freddy Breitbut as its stars, had rolled up 120 points in three games, but has been scored on three times by small teams. In Marsters and Breitbut, Dartmouth has the happy combination of right and left halfbacks who are right and left half backs in more than name. Marsters at right halfback punts and passes with his right foot and right hand, respectively, and Breitbut at left halfback punts and passes with his left foot and left hand, respectively.

Columbia has a good old-fashioned defensive team and may give Dartmouth more trouble than expected.

Penn vs. Pennsylvania

Penn State gave Pennsylvania its first setback last year and down at Philadelphia Lou Young is working overtime to prevent a similar occurrence this Saturday at Franklin Field.

Penn is favored, but Penn was favored last year and lost, 20 to 0. Bucknell beat Penn State last week, 6 to 0, but a year ago Bucknell beat Penn State 13 to 7, the week before the Penn game.

French Plan Better Check Of Sport Marks

PARIS, Oct. 17.—(U.P.)—Scientific precision in the timing and measuring of athletic performances is the object of a movement now gathering momentum in French sports circles.

M. Jorgensen, president of the Federation Francaise Athletique, predicts the establishment in the near future of communities of athletic engineers, who will be present at all meets. Jorgensen indicated that the task of removing guesswork from field records would have to follow lines laid down by Prof. Rene Danger, lecturer on linear measurement at the Ecole de Travaux Publics.

There are at least seven possibilities of error in the measuring of an ordinary board jump performance, according to Prof. Danger. Temperature, he has found, affects the length of the steel tape ordinarily used for measuring. A slight variation in the levelness of the field also makes a difference. The slip of the heel, and the point from which the runner takes off, and other considerations, can change a record making jump into simply a good performance.

"No Jump" danger concludes, should be accepted as a record, unless it is at least three centimeters, or about one inch, better than the mark on the books. What is true of the broad jump also holds for weight throwing and to a lesser extent for the high jump. Working his conclusion out according to the law of probabilities, Prof. Danger has found that any mark which surpasses a record by less than an inch or two has no more than fifteen thousandths of a chance of being accurate, provided that all of his seven possibilities of error are accepted.

EASTBAY WARS ON FAULTY LIGHTS

Hopes of reducing the automobile death toll during the autumn of last year were dashed by the increasing danger caused by the extensive headlight campaign not under way.

With the assistance of police chiefs and state and county judges, from Richmond to Hayward, the campaign to enforce safe and legal headlights is being carried on nightly, it was announced by the Safety council, one of the agencies of the community chest.

Effort Needed

Necessity for special effort to increase the safety on the streets was seen in the report of Miss Florence I. Anderson, executive secretary of the Safety council, which shows that 59 persons have been killed by automobiles in the city of Oakland since the first of the year as opposed to 37 for the same period of the previous year. Traffic officers at a recent Safety council meeting declared that a large percentage of the accidents which happen after nightfall are due to faulty headlights.

It was announced by Chief of Police Donald L. Marshall and Lieutenant Charles L. Hemphill of Oakland that the war against defective headlights will be carried on intensively until every driver with lights of this kind has been reminded of his negligence.

Squads At Work

Squads of police are working on various streets and highways in the eastbay every night, stopping drivers whose lights are glaring or otherwise illegal. The driver is handed a card upon which is printed a list of stations which specialize in headlight adjustments. If he goes to one of these stations and secures a "clean bill of health" as regards to lights within 48 hours and returning this to the traffic officer of his city he is spared a trip to the police courts. Otherwise he is cited to appear in court the same as any other violator of the motor vehicle law.

This year's 50 automobile tragedies have resulted in the deaths of 9 pedestrians, 4 automobile drivers, 14 occupants, motorcycle drivers and one motorcycle rider. The death of a pedestrian in East Oakland on Sunday night was the first automobile fatality in 35 days.

Sunday Deaths

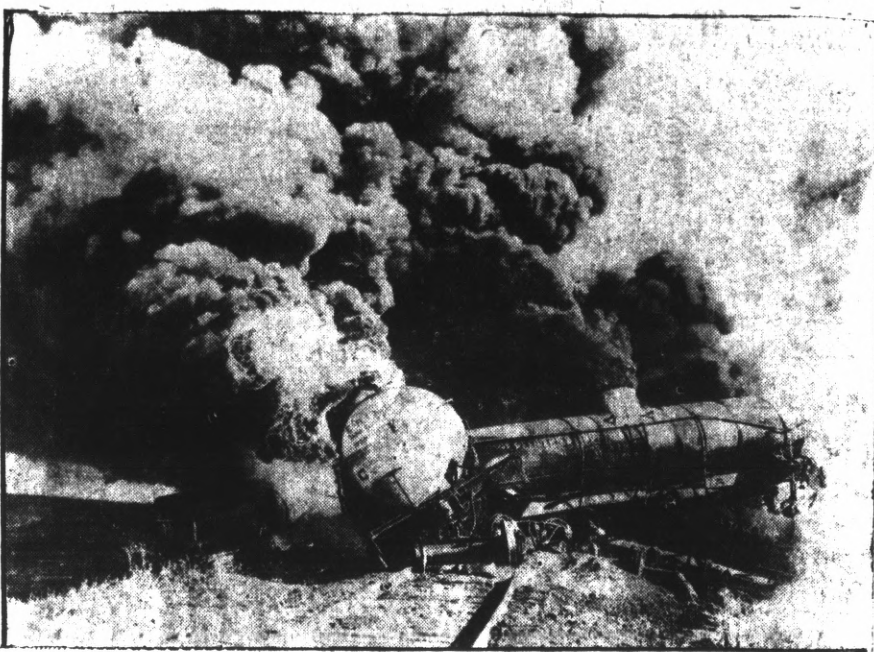

Seventeen of the deaths occurred on Sundays. The largest number were killed between 8 and 10 o'clock in the evening. Thirty-seven of the victims were men or boys and 13 were women or girls. There were 4 deaths of children less than 10 years.

"The Eastbay Safety Council will work with the police department in an intensive effort to cut down automobile deaths through headlight campaigns and other special efforts," said Lee H. Newbert, president of the Safety Council. "Deaths are greatly on the increase not alone in Oakland but in practically every city of the country. Citizens have organized to prevent this needless waste of human lives."

Martinez Seeks To Name Straits Span

MARTINEZ, Oct. 17.—Martinez Kiwanis and Exchange clubs have adopted resolutions similar to the one adopted by the chamber of commerce here requesting the Southern Pacific company to name its new $1,000,000 span to be erected from here to Hercules as the Martinez bridge. The resolutions call attention to the interest Martinez has for the bridge and the historical background of the community.

BOY SCOUTS TO AID IN VOTE CAMPAIGN

Richmond Boy Scouts will aid in the "Get Out and Vote" campaign to be started prior to the November election, according to a discussion at the session of the Boy Scout district council last night.

Assistant Fire Chief J. J. Barry has been named chairman of the committee in charge of the arrangements. It is planned to have the boys distribute literature to householders and interview voters on their right to vote.

During the past month 250 hours were spent by the boys in civic service work the committee reported.

Discussion of a new camp site 20 miles north of Sonoma was brought up and it is believed that this camp may be selected by the committee in charge. It is almost an ideal camp for training the boys, it was reported.

Boy Scout anniversary week will be a national event in February and special plans are being arranged for Richmond to participate in the events.

A committee composed of Lloyd Bolt, J. H. Corey, J. J. Barry, C. C. Connelley, Harry Solto, John Ottman will take charge of this event.

More men are needed to carry on the Boy Scout court of awards and review work. This matter, it is believed, will be handled satisfactorily within a few days as more men are volunteering their efforts to the work.

A county council meeting will be held next Wednesday at Martinez. A number of Richmond men will attend the meeting.

"Those attending the council meeting last night in the Elks club included: Dr. A. B. Hinkley, J. J. Barry, M. F. Beebe, John Ottman, Dr. L. A. Hewitt, C. B. Burns, Harry Solto, Max Smith, T. G. Gray, and Robert Cox.

Richmond-Marine Bay Bridge Site Declared Ideal

The site for the Richmond-Marine toll bridge, proposed by Oscar Klatt and Roy O. Long, was declared to provide ample foundations for the structure, according to George Calder, in charge of the borings. Calder declares that there is a well defined ledge of rocks over most of the site which offers firm foundations for the bridge pier.
